

Brooklyn Monthly Snapshot

Market Wide Summary

During January, the Brooklyn market saw a mix of market indicators including varied price statistics and higher contract activity, but also lengthening days on market and expanding inventory. Median price fell 11%, driven by growth in contracts below $1M in January 2019. Average price increased 6% which was partially caused by sales over $6M that occurred in Brooklyn Heights. Average price per square foot rose 10% year-over-year due to a penthouse sale. Contract activity improved 2% compared to both last year and last month, partially due to a larger share of buyers negotiating on price. Days on market rose 45% year-over-year as the general slowdown throughout the market continues. The 31% additional new listings compared to last year was primarily due to the launch of new developments such as One Clinton located in Brooklyn Heights.
